Small Group Questions

Well, apparently last Thursday was just a reprieve from the cold and snow as it is back again. Spring will come, but until it does, here are some questions to ponder in your small group this week.

1. All families are dysfunctional in some way. Do you accept that and have you identified and addressed this in yours?
2. How does one submit to family members he/she loves with a servant's heart and mindset to build up the family?
3. How can wives stand up for themselves when they are shamed by other wives/mothers for submitting to their husbands?
4. Looking in the mirror, what needs to change about you?
5. Have you been a family that has both submission and Christ-like-love in your marriage relationship? How do you plan to make changes
